EU strategy on the rights of the child (2021-2024)

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

Children's rights are the human rights of all those below the age of 18. According to the United Nations Convention on the rights of the child, every child in the world is entitled to the same set of civil, political, economic, social and cultural rights – irrespective of their ethnicity, gender, religion, language, abilities, migration status, sexual orientation or any other status.

The protection of children's rights is an objective of the European Union; a guiding principle for EU institutions' actions, and for the EU Member States. The EU Charter of Fundamental Rights is the legal basis for the EU action. The Charter applies to the EU institutions and bodies and the Members States when they are implementing EU law. In some areas which relate to children's rights, the EU has the competence to harmonise legislation at national level, while in others it has the power to act through other tools, such as policy coordination, or funding. Several areas of EU action also have an influence, direct or indirect, on the rights of children.

The Covid-19 pandemic, and the measures taken to respond to it, have a significant impact on children's rights.

The European Commission is preparing a new strategy on the rights of the child – and this consultation constitutes a key milestone in its preparation. The strategy will provide the policy framework for EU action on children's rights. It will present the actions (legislative, policy, funding etc.) at EU level that contribute to the protection of the rights of the child, both internally and in its external action.

The strategy will address challenges to children's rights, including in the context of the current Covid-19 pandemic, and ensure synergies with recent and upcoming policy developments. The strategy will include a list of actions for the Commission to implement in the course of the current mandate. It will also include recommendations for actions by other EU institutions and bodies, Member States and stakeholders.

The strategy will focus on several thematic areas, which could include the following priorities (non-exhaustive and non-definitive list): Child participation; Digital and Information Society; Violence against children; Health, welfare and social inclusion; Education, leisure and culture; Child-friendly justice; Migration; children affected by armed conflicts. It will also include horizontal actions to foster mainstreaming and coordination. Not all thematic areas are touched upon in this consultation, which aims at collecting more in depth input under selected topics.

The strategy will build on the 2011 EU Agenda for the Rights of the child, and other relevant policy frameworks.

The ultimate objective of the strategy is to contribute to strengthening the protection of children's rights through EU action, both in the EU and in the world.

7. Covid-19 has significantly impacted children and their rights. How could child rights and child protection be better embedded in response mechanisms to the pandemic, and to emergency situations in general.

2000 character(s) maximum

Not all children and adolescents have equal access to the opportunities to lead healthy, happy and prosperous lives. The situation has worsened during the pandemic, with highly likely adverse consequences to children and young people's psycho-social health and wellbeing. Importantly, those negative impacts have been unequally distributed across the populations in European countries. Such avoidable inequities are now likely to grow in the context of the COVID-19 crisis; a more substantial and ambitious focus and investments in children and their living conditions is urgently needed. The European Pillar of Social Rights (EPSR), its implementation Action Plan, and this Child Right's Strategy are therefore key vehicles to ensuring the rights of the child to health, freedom from poverty and inequality. For that, data and surveillance systems need to be put in place, so as the governance mechanisms for collaboration, systematic impact assessment of policy and funds' on child rights and child protection outcomes across a comprehensive set of dimensions, including health promotion and disease prevention, health risk factors and health inequalities.

B. Participation in the EU political and democratic life

8. To what extent do you agree with the following statements

	Fully agree	Partially agree	Partially disagree	Fully disagree	l don' t know
Participation of children in the political and democratic life should be encouraged through EU action	•	•	0	0	0
The EU should become closer to its child citizens, including through adapted communication	0	•	0	0	0
EU institutions should consult children directly in policy making and programming	0	•	0	0	0
The EU should support child participation at the local and national level	•	0	0	0	0
Child participation only matters at the local and national level, not at the EU level	0	0	•	0	0

9. What are the main challenges to ensuring child participation in the political and democratic life in the EU?

at most 3 choice(s)

- Children are not seen as citizens who have a right or the capacity to participate
- Lack of political will
- Lack of adequate expertise and know-how
- Lack of financial resources
- Difficulty to include different groups of children/ not all children have access to channels of participation

10. Which mechanism(s) should the EU develop?

at most 4 choice(s)

Child advisory board(s)

V	Children's Parliament(s)
	On-line consultations
	Ad-hoc meetings with children
	Regular consultations on upcoming legislation, policy making and programming
	Dedicated child-friendly information and campaigns
	EU competition on child participation (for schools, municipalities etc.)
1	Initiatives through schools on the EU and children's rights
V	Funding for child participation at local and national level

C. Digital information and society

The implications of the digital age for children's rights are manifold and ever changing. Examples are: the right to privacy and to be forgotten; the right of access to information and the right to education; the right to be safeguarded from abuse; the right to freedom of expression and the right to be heard. EU actions include the European Strategy for a Better Internet for Children - with EU funding to the Safer Internet Centres network and the Alliance to better protect minors online, the Digital Education Action Plan, the 2018 Audiovisual Media Services Directive and data protection compliance via GDPR, as well as the potential regulatory framework on artificial intelligence (White Paper on Artificial Intelligence of 19.2.2020).

11. To what extent do you agree with the following statements

	Fully agree	Partially agree	Partially disagree	Fully disagree	I don' t know

EuroHealthNet recommends the EU's Strategy on the Rights of the Child to address the following issues:

- A focus on reducing child poverty (25% of the EU's children) and health inequalities, by investing in family support policies, early interventions, and prevention and health-promoting services. Such approach should be guided by the EPSR, the Council Recommendation on Investing in Children (2013), on High-Quality Early Childhood Education and Care Systems (2019), the EC proposal for Child Guarantee (2019), and the Council Conclusions on the Economy of Well-being (2019).
- Ensuring environments that encourage and easily enable children and adolescents to adopt healthy lifestyles and behaviours, by putting a firm focus on the implementation of Art. 168 of TFEU on 'health in all policies'. Physical activity levels in children and adolescents are persistently declining, while consumption of highly processed foods and sugary drinks is high, contributing to growing levels of overweight and obesity in the EU. In addition, increasing numbers of adolescents are reporting issues that affect their mental health (sleep difficulties, stress and anxiety). Such issues are linked to societal trends and pressures, incl. digital and technological, and can only be addressed through comprehensive, integrated approaches, supported by regulatory action, to create environments that support children and adolescent's health and well-being.
- Tackling persistent inequalities in childhood vaccination and immunisation: like other medical interventions, vaccination is subject to the social gradient. Wealth distribution, maternal education, place of residence, the sex of the child, and poverty are linked to access to, and levels of vaccination coverage;
- Improving the collection of disaggregated data on child health, well-being and social inclusion to help monitor and assess progress towards reducing child health inequalities, child poverty and vulnerability
